TO THE RIGHT HOnourable, Sir Richard Boyle, Knight, Lord Boyle, Baron of Youghall, Viscount Dungarvan, Earle of Corke, and one of his Majesties most honourable Privite Counsell of the Kingdome

of Ireland, &c.

ART of every defertfull birth, (Right Honourable) in any man his Country may challenge, his Soveraigne a part, his Parents a part, and his friends another; As I cannot be usefull in every respect to each of those, so I will strive to expresse at least a will, if not a perfection in ability to all. Where a generall voice warrants an approbation, there every service is a dutie. That ruth of it both concernes and invites me out of the fame and applause of your Noblenesse, to make a particular dedication of some serious houres to your survey, whom the world speakes hoth noble and learned, wherein, as I have done my best to accommodate difcourfe with the choisest Language, so I desire that my ambition of being knowne unto your Lord ship, may not be imputed either unto an errour if impudence, or an impudence in erring. Please you to know thus much of me, that I am partly imboldned hereunto, by the assurance of your love and favours to that noble Gentleman Sir William Hull; to whom, as I amtyed in double bonds of blood and friend-Ship; (o, I am so much oblized unto him, that I cannot devise a better rent than to doe you fervice: But chiefely the report of your owne. honourable merit and just commendations encontage me to this duty, though other wife unknowne, not questioning but you will be pleased to take notice of one who loves and honours vertue in all Personages, for Vertues sake. Vouch fafe (Right Honourable) this pooretestimony of my observancie, intended onely to ferve you not to instruct you; and you shall not onely largely requite my endeavours, but may also expect a more steadie and particular dutie from

Am not ignorant of the praiseworthy labours which some Schollers of deferved memory, have heretofore bestowed on the like subject that I have here adventred on : howfoever it might therefore seeme a needlesse taske of mine, to intrude upon a plot of study, the foundation of whose building hath been formerly level'd and laid, yet the Justice of defence herein is so cleare, that my endeavours may be truly termed rather a necessity of doing, than an arrogancle in doing. For without appropriating to my owne comfort any interest of glory, the understanding Readers will not, the ignorant cannot, and the malicious dare not but acknowledge, that what any before me in this kind have begun, I have not only fully finished, but throughly perfected. To write an Apologie of justification, would argue rather a distrust of my Worke, than a confidence of merit. Be pleased therfore (honest and (therein) learned Reader) to furvey a short Premonition, for the order of the enfuing Vocabulary. First, the method is plaine and easie, being Alphabeticall, by which the capacitie of the meanest may soone be enlightned the first Book hath the choisest words themselves now in use, wherewith our Language is inriched, and become so copious, to which words the common fense is annexed. The second Booke containes the Vulgar words, which whenfoever any defirous of a more curious explanation by a more refined and elegant speech shall looke into, he shall there receive the exact and ample word to expresse the same: Wherein by the way, let me pray thee to observe, that I have also inserted (as occasion served) even the mock-words which are ridiculously used in our Language, that those who defire a generality of knowledge, may not be ignorant of the sense even of the fustiantearmes, used by too many who study rather to be heard speake, than to understand themselves. The last Booke is a recitall of severall Persons, Gods and Goddesses, Giants and Divels, Monsters and Scrpents, Birds and Beasts, Rivers, Fi-shes, Herbs, Stones, Trees and the like, to the intent that the diligent learner may not pretend the defect of any helpe which may informe his discourse of practice. I might insist upon the generall use of this Worke, especially for Ladies and and Gentlewomen, Clerkes, Merchants, young Schollers, Strangers, Travellers, and all fuch as defire to know the plenty of the English: but I am confident, that experience will be the truest Herauld to publish to the world on my behalfe, how as my debt to my Country is to be challenged, fo my Countrey shall not altogether boast of any immunity from being indebted to my Studies: onely by the way, I would intreat thee, gentle Reader, that thou wouldest have care to fearch every word according to the true Orthography thereof; as for Physiognomie, in the letter P. not in F. for Cynicall, in Cy. not in Ci. and where thou meetest with a word marked thus * know you that it is now out of use, and only used of some ancient Writers. Thus what I have done, is (Reader) for thy benefit: accept it, and make use of it, so shall I find reward in my labours, and rest thy friend,

Am not ignorant of the praiseworthy labours which fome Schollers of deserved memory, have heretosore bestowed on the like subject that I have here adventred on : howfoever it might therefore feeme a needleffe taske of mine, to intrude upon a plot of study, the foundation of whose building hath been formerly level'd and laid, yet the Justice of defence herein is so cleare, that my endeavours may be truly termed rather a necessity of doing, than an arrogancie in doing. For without appropriating to my owne comfort any interest of glory, the understanding Readers will not, the ignorant cannot, and the malicious dare not but acknowledge, that what any before me in this kind have begun, I have not only fully finished, but throughly perfected.
